Description

This Farr 65 footer is a high-performance Farr-designed round-the-world racing yacht, built for speed and safety in all weather conditions. Constructed by Colvic Yachts in 1999, she's reinforced with Kevlar for added strength. Her bulb keel, with a 10-foot draft, allows access to most harbors while maintaining excellent sailing performance.

Powered by a masthead rig, she moves effortlessly, with sail handling managed through a manual coffee grinder system. In 2022, over $70K was invested in new North Racing sails, including a mainsail, J2, and J3 headsails.

Below deck, she offers ample sail storage in the forward compartment, separated by a watertight bulkhead. She has two head/shower units and pipecot berths to accommodate 14 crew members (each 7 feet long). Her centrally located galley is fully equipped for meal preparation, featuring a propane stove controlled remotely with two 10.4 kg fiberglass cylinders stored externally. The galley also includes a 24V fridge (130L) and an 80L freezer.

Additionally, she is outfitted with a pressurized water system, and her water and fuel tanks are made of durable nylon material.
